

Dr Orivaldo Brunini, International Editor, Campinas, Brazil

Dr Orivaldo Brunini - Agronomy Engineer, has a Master Degree in Nuclear Energy in Agriculture and a Doctorate in Agrometeorology from University of Guelph-Canada. He is a Senior Scientific Researcher – in the field of Agrometeorology, He is the President of the Foundation to Support Agriculture Research, Campinas, Brazil and implemented a meteorological network of about 204 weather stations in the State of São Paulo, Brazil. He has been engaged in research activities as: operational agrometeorology, micrometeorology, soil moisture estimation, crop water balance, crop zoning, and plant adaptation as a function of climate change scenarios. A former professor of Agrometeorology and Micrometeorology at the University of Sao Paulo (USP) and expert member of the CAgM commission, WMO, Geneva, Switzerland as chair and co.-chair of the focus areas in Agrometeorology.

Email: diretoria.presidencia@fundag.br