

Dr Sompal Singh Rana

Working as Professor in the Department of Climate Change and Agricultural Meteorology, Punjab Agricultural University, Ludhiana, India. Doctorate in Agricultural Meteorology. Worked as Principal Investigator of DST sponsored project on National Centre for Medium Range Weather Forecasting. Also executed many extra mural research projects including 'Ground Water Resource Management to Mitigate the Impact of Climate Change in Punjab and Haryana' and 'Standardization of High Density Planting and Canopy Architecture for higher Productivity and Better Fruit Quality in Low chill Peach'. Specialized research interests in Climate Change Studies, Remote Sensing Applications in agriculture, crop weather interactions, and microclimate modifications.

Areas of responsibility include: overseeing editorial content and management of crop weather interactions.

Email: sompal69@pau.edu